

Quick PREDICTS

67

Gen. Eisenhower's campaign managers will tell him to return before May 10 and campaign actively if he wants to win the GOP Presidential nomination.

A delay in the coronation of Queen Elizabeth from August, 1952, to April, 1953, will be sought by British travel agencies.

Home building costs will drop slightly as more materials and labor become available.

Belgium's parliament will rebuke King Baudouin for taking too much advice from his father, ex-King Leopold.

W. Stuart Symington, former RFC administrator, will run for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator in Missouri.

German businessmen will explore underdeveloped areas of the world with an eye to setting up new industries with the help of U. S. Point Four aid.

Ohio draft boards will assign conscientious objectors to jobs in state mental hospitals.

The U. S. will help Brazil set up an atomic energy development program. The two countries will sign an agreement under which Brazil will sell the U. S. uranium, get research help in return for this.

68

Austria and Yugoslavia will sign a new trade agreement: Yugoslav food, timber, and minerals for Austrian industrial products.

More than 5.5 million people will be getting government Social Security checks by July 1—an increase of 1.5 million in a year.

Ichiro Hatoyama, purged by Gen. MacArthur from the Japanese government, will challenge Premier Yoshida for Japanese leadership.

Highway construction during the summer months won't lag as much as had been feared. Reason: Steel for bridges will be available.

Wage, price and production controls will be extended for one year—instead of the two requested by Pres. Truman.

The Administration will block plans of some Senators to move 50,000 Federal workers from Washington to other cities.

Sen. Byrd (D., Va.) will be challenged for re-nomination in the Democratic primaries by Francis P. Miller of Charlottesville, Va.

Big name comics will desert radio by next year. They'll all flee to TV's more lush payrolls.

Boxing commissioners in all 48 states will cooperate in efforts to bar undesirables from acting as fight managers, promoters or boxers. If necessary, they'll ask Federal help.

Front cover: Harris & Ewing. Photos on pp. 5, 49, 55, 66: Combine. Photo (top r.) on p. 12: United Press. Photos on pp. 17, 18, 19: Quick photos by Vaccaro. Photos on p. 20: top l., Vaccaro; top r., Wide World; bottom, International. Photo on p. 45: N. Y. Mirror from International. Photo on p. 62: Wide World.